

LMU Medieval Monasticism Group SYMPOSIUM ON PARADOX Spring 2021

The LMU Medieval Monasticism Group was established to host informal scholarly conversations about monasticism across cultures and religions. We began meeting spring 2020 with the hope of fostering discussion from across the disciplines among LMU faculty and with scholars affiliated with other institutions as well as with independent scholars. Although our focus is on medieval monasticism (loosely, 500-1500), we invite broader participation among interested parties. We intend, in addition, to host a series of symposia on medieval monasticism to be open to student participants. Our founding members are Dermott Walsh, Eric Haruki Swanson, and Anna Harrison.

The LMU Medieval Monasticism Group will hold two symposia in academic year 2021-22. Our Spring 2021 theme is PARADOX, and we look forward to a broad interdisciplinary presence from among LMU faculty and students.

For further information, contact a member of the Medieval Monasticism Group: anna.harrison@lmu.edu; dermott.walsh@lmu.edu; eric.swanson@lmu.edu.